Notes

- (tdf) means venues where Theatre Development Fund is sponsoring open captioned performances for the 2011-2012 season through its National Open Captioning Initiative, with captioning services provided by c2 (www.c2net.org). For more information please go to www.tdf.org; click on “For Your Production” and then on “National Open Captioning Initiative.”
- Of an estimated 1,000 professional theatres in the United States presenting live performances (taken from the Theatre Communications Group membership and The Broadway League Stage Specs lists), only 78 theatres, about 8%, around the country are offering captioning services. (This figure does not include 40 Broadway venues that periodically offer open captioned performances sponsored by TDF.) Furthermore, 28 states have no captioned theatre at all. Compare live theater captioning with broadcast access for people with hearing loss where the FCC mandated 100% of all new programming be captioned by January 1, 2006.
